COAT OF ARMS

It is fortunate that we were able to obtain the family Coat of arms, also that we are able to show it in this booklet. This Coat of Arms was used by the DeJonghe's prior to 1280 A.D. but it was registered in France in that year, It is authentic. The DeJonghe's of Ghent and Bruges bore these arms.

The colors are old silver against a background of blue. The arms of Egyptian Design, symbolic of the age of the family. Egypt is the oldest country in the world and the DeJonghe's among the oldest of families.

Egyptian youths supporting the shield typify the meaning of the name "DeJonghe" which is Junior.

The French equivalent is LaJeune

The spelling of the word with "h" is the old Flemish origin, peculiar to the region of Ghent in the 11th and 12th century, when our name was first used, indicating that the DeJong's are of Flemish origin.

Later in Holland the name was changed to DeJonge, then to DeJong, and then about 1893 to 1895 some of the families in America changed the spelling to DeYoung, but not all families did so, some still continue the name DeJong to this date.

AUTHOR'S NOTES

One must realize that in making up a family booklet that much time has been consumed in gathering the data together. There will be errors and omissions and much data can be improved upon. Some of the history has been told only briefly. We have tried to make the booklet interesting but also inexpensive and have tried to get in all the data that space will allow. Later others can continue the genealogy and use this booklet as a basis for further information.

The writer will keep a copy available for corrections and additions so if everyone will send in corrections to be made, future marriages, also new children, these can be added if the writer is sent the details.

The history has been gathered from various sources. Many families have helped by sending in details and this has helped immensely. At the Mormon Genealogy Library in Salt Lake City is much data that was obtained as this Library has made micro-films of records in Europe and much data about our early family in Schoorl was obtained there. The first record on the films is 1702. If we could learn where our forefathers Dirk DeJongh, also his father Pieter lived we might get additional information. Dirk DeYoung, formerly of Avenel, N. J. (now deceased) was an American Consular representative in Amsterdam for a number of years and while there gathered history of the family and he traced his immediate family from 1200 A.D. down to the present date. We are grateful to those who have helped and are also grateful to Jacob Vanderbilt who printed and bound the booklets with no labor charge. That has helped immensely.

The writer started working on the genealogy in 1945, spent considerable time on it for which he will receive no pay, except personal satisfaction for the achievement. Although imperfect in many ways it does set up a basic record for future generations to build on. The DeYongs have much to be thankful for their ancestry. They were good people and one to be proud of. No one needs to be ashamed that they are DeYoung descendants.

HISTORY OF THE DE JONGS

Many people have wondered where the family came from and where the name originated.

It is said that the family had its inception about 440 B.C. at the city of Troy. This city was sacked by the Greeks thru the well known horse hoax but many of the families escaped from the burning city and finally settled along the Mediterranean coast of France. This was the early seat of the DeJonghe's although later Flanders, Belgium and Holland was their home.

The name was spelled DeJonghe in Flanders and they were descended from Lothaire, the youngest son of Charlemagne. When the latter kingdom was divided, Lothaire was given Holland, Belgium and certain Northern provinces of France. Since the DeJonghe name means "Junior", and Lothaire being the junior son of Charlemagne, this is where the name originated. The count of Flanders ruled that territory for many years.

The name DeJonghe appears in records as far back as 960 A.D. and was used by Count Baldwin of Flanders. It was in common use in 1200 A.D. The records show many knights and officials bearing this name, one being Governor Boudewijn DeJonghe of Bruges, Belgium in 1285. The DeJonghe family of Ghent had its coat of arms registered in 1280 and this is one of the oldest of family crests.

The DeJonghe's migrated from Flanders as they resented restrictions on their liberty and they went to Holland for religious and economic reasons and they left Holland for America when things were bad there and America held out some hope for them. After they got to Holland, the name was changed to DeJongh and later to DeJong.

Jaques DeJonghe and his son Jan, descendants of Boudewijn DeJonghe settled in Zeeland about 1500 A.D. Later members of the family got in difficulties with the Spaniards and fled to Hoorn, North Holland. There were refugees by the name of DeJonghe both from France and Flanders in Brielle, Holland in 1572. Some went to Haarlem and they were also known at Zalt, Bommel and Gelderland. Some took part in the famous siege of that fort during the reformation. It is also known that some of the family settled in Schoorl and neighboring towns.

There were DeJonghe's among the early settlers of New Amsterdam but some of them changed the name to Young; and some of the descendants of Jan Jansen DeJonghe took the name of Jansen.

After the Napoleonic Wars, there was a great depression in Europe causing political and religious unrest and many Hollanders left for America. A group of Dutch settlers went to Pella, Iowa in 1847 and this group spread over Iowa, Minnesota and Wisconsin and many went to Orange City, Iowa where some of the DeYoung's now live. My brother John L. DeYoung preached in the First Reformed Church in Orange City before his death. Another group came to South Holland, Illinois in 1847, one branch of the family settled in St. Louis about that time and are now known as De Yong. Our family group left Holland in 1849 and settled in Roseland in July of that year. It is in this group that Jacob and Pieter DeJong were prominent members. A very prominent DeYoung was Michael H. DeYoung, editor and founder of the San Francisco Chronicle, also the DeYoung Museum of San Francisco. If any of the family should visit the Alamo, the famous building in San Antonio, Texas, they should especially view four paintings in the building which were done by Harry Anthony DeYoung the oldest son of Gertie DeYoung, daughter of Hark, a son of Jacob DeJong. They are on the walls of the Alamo. He also has paintings in the Dr. Moore collections, Los Angeles; Harold Swift collections Chicago; Chicago Public School collections and the Susan B. Allen Memorial Hospital, Eldorado, Kan.

The Witte Museum of San Antonio, Texas has a large Indian Mural, "The Basket Maker" which measures 8x17 feet painted by him and the large 9x21 foot wall painting "Chuck Time on the Lazy R" which is part of the decorative scheme of the Terrace Roof Garden, St. Anthony Hotel, San Antonio, Texas is also his work. Harry DeYoung got his education in the Illinois University and the Art Institute of Chicago, was an art teacher and a painter of some renown. He died in Waco, Texas on January 15, 1956.

The DeJonghes were migratory by nature. From Flanders they went to Utrecht, Holland, then across the river Lek to Nieuwpoort, South Holland; then to Schoonhoven. At that point John Hendricks DeJong went to Kedichem; then to the town of Gorinchem on the river, Waal and other members of the family settled in various parts of Holland. So far as known the family dates back over a thousand years and there is a record of Nicholas DeJonghe in Ghent in 1200 A.D.

Various records obtained thru careful search indicate that wherever the DeJonghes went, were in high standing in the various communities and they were among the rulers. The DeJonghe's were a rich and influential group at the end of the 16th century but fifty years later they were scattered and poor due to the eighty year war with Spain. Most made a new start and in another generation records indicate that they were again flourishing. The DeJonghes had a urge to enlarge life and improve conditions.

Nicholas DeJonghe was born in Ghent in 1200, had two sons namely Poudouin who was Governor of Bruges, Belgium in 1283 and Everhard. It is thought that most of the DeJonghes in Holland descended from Everhard.

Everhard was born in 1235, died in 1297. He had two sons Henri and Nicholas the latter being born in 1265. In turn Nicholas had a son named Jan who was born in 1300. Jan was the father of Gerard and Jacob DeJonghe who was born in Flanders in 1335. Jacob's son Jacob Jacobse DeJonghe, born in 1365 married Kate Martyns and settled in Utrecht about 1390. He also was known as Jan Jacobse DeKorenkoper because he was a dealer in grains. He had several sons; namely Jacob; Dirk; Hendrik; Ghysbert; Lubracht and Everhard. They appear at different times on the city council of Utrecht.

Dirk DeJonghe was born in 1385 was a member of the city council of Utrecht from 1440 to 1448 and he had nine sons; Jan; Ghysbert; Simon; Herman; Pieter Wouter; Joost; Jacob and Evert. Ghysbert was born in Utrecht about 1410 and was the father of Ghysbrecht Gysbrechtsz DeJonghe who was born in 1435 in Utrecht.

His sons were Ghysbrecht Gysbrechtsz; Matthew; Dirk; Wouter; Aart and Jan. The latter two sons appear as officials at Nieuwpoort in 1555, they being Hendrick and Symon. Aarts son, Jacob was burgmeester of Nieuwpoort in 1558.

Ghysbrecht Ghysbrechtsz born in Utrecht in 1470. His sons were Ghysbrecht and Pieter. The first had at least ten while Pieter who was born in 1500 had thirteen children. His son Pieter was burgmeester of Nieuwpoort, ancestor of Daniel of Amiede. He was also the father of Jan Pieterse DeJonghe born 1535. He married Hilligje Floren on December 23, 1571. Their children were Pieter; Ghysbrecht; Jan; Hilliken; Hendrick and Dirk who was a weaver by trade.

Hendrick, his son was born in Nieuwpoort about 1565; death shown as Feb. 9, 1615. His son Jans Hendrickse DeJonghe was born in Nieuwpoort about 1595 was a merchant in Schoonhoven in 1619 and died at Kedichem, near Gorinchem. He married Styntjen Ghysbertsz.

They had thirteen children; Hendrick; Gerrit; Eastian; Jacob who was the forefather of the DeJongs that came to Pella in 1847; Jan whose children settled in Gorinchem; Jilles; Thomas. Hilligje. Belike; Adriana; Dirk, Maglera; and Pieter whose children went to Gorinchem.

Jacob DeJongh, (note the name has now been changed slightly) was born at either Kedichem or Schoonhoven in 1631. He married Aaaltje Jans van Huet in 1655 at Spijk. Their son Jan Jacobse DeJongh was born in Spijk in 1655, and was married to Styntjen Jans and their children were Jacob born 1675; Lysken born 1677; Jan and Hendrik. The Jacob DeJongh family owned the "Byenkorf" a department store in Gorinchem, three miles from Kedichem.

Hendrik Jans DeJongh, born Dec. 24, 1683 at Gorinchem married Marie Bass on May 17, 1716 at Leksmoond and their children were Jan; Hilligje and Christian, the latter being a magistrate of Amiede. Their older son Jan was born in Leksmoond, Holland on October 2, 1716; died March 20, 1783 at Tienhoven and was buried at Amiede. Their children were Maria born May 31, 1753, married Peter Maat; Hendrikje born November 23, 1755; Hendrik born Nov. 5, 1758; Koenraad born Nov. 28, 1761 and Cornelius born 1753. Hendrik is one of the ancestors of the family which moved to Pella. Hendrik was born in Tienhoven died Nov. 10, 1809, married Tryntje van der Lede on December 28, 1887. They had nine children; Jannagje who married Roelof van Zijl; Pieter; Neeltje; Jan; Lourens; Hendrik; Maaikje; Koenraad born April 11, 1802 and Adrianus born June 23, 1804. Koenraad DeJong left Holland with 787 Dutch settlers and settled in Pella in 1847. His brother Adrian came seven years later.

It is fortunate that the DeJongs who settled in Pella can trace their ancestry back to 1200 A.D. due to the fact that Dirk P. DeJong was able to trace this ancestry while American Consular Representative at Amsterdam, Netherlands. He spent several years there and spent much time on this genealogy. But with the similarity of the first names, we are sure that somewhere in this line our own forefathers came.

PIETER DE JONGH was born in 1719 and he was our immediate forefather. His son DIRK DE JONGH lived in Schoorl. He married Aeltje VarderKluft and the records in Schoorl as seen on Microfilm in the genealogy library in Salt Lake City, Utah show had the following children.

Guurtje born March 13, 1768.
Jan born May 15, 1769
Antje born October 19, 1770
Tryntje born May 24, 1772.
Maartje born July 24, 1774.
Maartje born November 26, 1775.
JAN BORN OCTOBER 5, 1777
Pieter born January 3, 1779
Diwartje born June 9, 1783
Maartje born June 9, 1783.
Grietje born June 9, 1783.

They thus had eleven known children and the last three being triplets, Pieter listed above died June 29, 1783, Jan who was born October 5, 1777; died June 17, 1814; is our forefather. He changed his name to DeJong. He married Maartje Hoogvorst born July 8, 1770. She was the daughter of Jan and Tryntje Hoogvorst and died August 25, 1821.

Signature of Jan Dirks DeJong

The children of Jan and Maarte Hoogvorst DeJong were:

Dirk DeJong born November 22, 1801; died December 19, 1830.
Jan DeJong born January 3, 1806; died in infancy.
JACOB DE JONG born October 6, 1808; died March 27, 1875.
PIETER DE JONG born August 7, 1811; died June 18, 1893.
Jan DeJong born July 13, 1812; died November 2, 1823.

The names in heavy black type are the names of our forefathers in direct line. The bible record show Jacob's birth as October 11, 1808 but the birth records at Schoorl show October 6, 1808.

One can see from these records that in 1849 when Pieter and Jacob DeJong left Holland they were the only ones left in the family. Jacob lived in Schoorl but members of the Pieter DeJong family say that he was a school teacher at Warmerhuizen, Holland near by.

A marriage certificate dated October 19, 1834 shows that Jacob DeJong married Geertje Eeneningburg and that she was the daughter of Joris Eeneningburg and Tryntje Bowman.

Another marriage certificate dated August 19, 1835 shows that Pieter DeJong was married to Tryntje Dalenberg daughter of Cornelius Dalenberg who in turn was the son of Pieter Dalenberg and Tryntje Abkerman.

It seems that times got rather hard in Holland in the 1840's, so Jacob and Pieter with others in and near Schoorl knowing that some of their friends were content with conditions in Pella, Iowa and South Holland, Illinois after settling there in 1847, gathered their families and possessions, had what gold they had sewed in their belts and on April 18, 1849 left for America. In addition to the families of Jacob and Pieter DeJong, there were the families of Cornelius Kuiper; Jan Yonker; Johannes Ambuul; Jan Bras; Pieter Dalenberg; Jan Ton; Klaas Dalenberg; Hark Eeningenberg; Leendert VanderSyde; Pieter Oudendijk; Cornelius Dalenberg and Cornelius Hoogendunk.

They sailed from Rotterdam to The Harve, France where they took a sailing vessel called "The Boston" and it took them forty-eight days to reach New York. Then they sailed up the Hudson River to Troy, New York, went by canal boat to Buffalo and from there took the boat called the Keystone State through the Great Lakes to Chicago and this trip took an additional 16 days. They thus must have arrived in Chicago in June 1849.

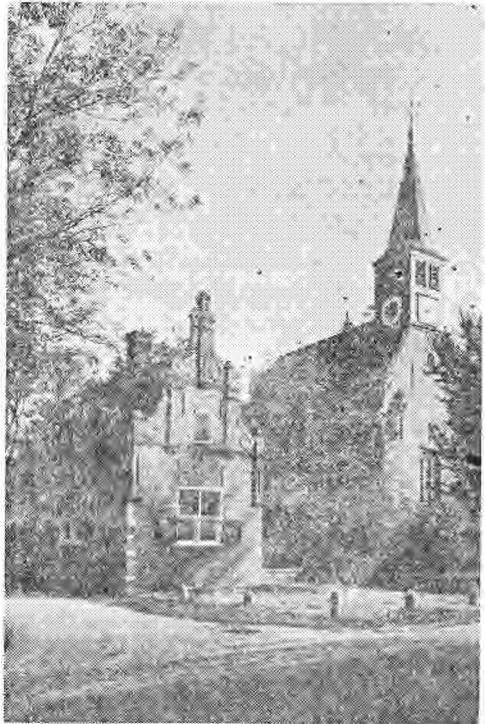

The trip of course was a hard one for all of the group. While crossing the ocean, Asiatic Cholera broke out, seventeen of the party died, mostly children and they were buried at sea. Jacob DeJong and his wife Geertje lost three children; Tryntje age four, Joris age two, and Giluitje age one. These seventeen deaths of course caused a great sorrow for the entire group.

After arriving in Chicago a friend was there to meet them and had rented an unfurnished home where the party remained until they found their permanent location.

The party decided that Jacob De Jong; Cornelius Kuiper; Leendert VanderSyde and Klaas Dalenberg should go to South Holland some twenty miles away for advice. They walked there and on the way back while on the Chicago and Thornton Road, they found what they thought was good soil and bought 160 acres of land for $5.00 an acre. Jacob DeJong bought 40 acres or 25 per cent, while Pieter bought 35 acres and the other eighty-five was divided among the rest of the group. Pieter built his home near what is now 107th and Michigan Ave. while Jacob built near 104th and Michigan. Pieter later gave part of his land for a church site and cemetery.

Shortly after they settled in Roseland my father Joris or George as he was later known was born (August 10, 1849) and he was the first white child born in Roseland. Pieter DeJong having been a school teacher in Holland became the teacher for the children. He also taught catechism.

To show that both Jacob and Pieter DeJong were well respected by their friends and were considered leaders of the group, it might be stated that when the church was organized in the Fall of 1849, Jacob DeJong was elected the first Elder preached the first sermons until a regular minister was obtained and Pieter was elected the first deacon,

City Hall, built in 1601, at Schoorl, Province of North Holland in the Netherlands, where records of the DeJong family were obtained. Also the church they attended in Schoorl.

Signature of Jacob DeJong

Jacob de Jong

Jacob DeJong; born Oct. 6, 1808, birth record in Schoorl on October 11, 1808; bible record, died March 27, 1875; married Geertje Eeninegnburg, a daughter of Joris Hark Eeningenburg and Tryntje Genvist Bowman on October 19, 1834. She was born July 17, 1810; died October 3, 1896. Her father Joris Eeningenburg was born January 25, 1778; died April 1, 1842; her mother Tryntje Bowman was born in 1779 and died January 5, 1842.

Jacob DeJong had more than ordinary success over the years and it is said that he had several thousand dollars in gold fastened in his money belt upon his arrival in America and after his arrival he became a successful truck gardner. He taught his children this work and most of them followed his foot steps and were successful.

Jacob DeJong was a big man. His military records at Schoorl show that he was inducted into the Army on October 4, 1834, was shown as being 6 feet 4 inches tall; blond hair and blue eyes. He had sixteen children, eleven born in Holland; five in Roseland after his arrival in America. But only six of these reached adulthood and raised families. As previously stated three died at sea when coming from the Netherlands.

In the microfilm records of Schoorl there appears a record of Symen DeJong who married Maartje Dalenberg. Their children were Crelis born July 1, 1753; Antje born July 22, 1764; Maartje born July 22, 1767; Maartje born July 17, 1770. It is possible that he was a brother of our forfather Dirk DeJong. There is also a record in Schoorl of Jan DeJong born January 12 1711; Jan DeJong born August 6, 1719; Gerrit DeJong born October 6, 1726.

On October 3, 1779 Aaftje DeJong was born to Cornelius DeJong and Maartje VanHanden and this Cornelius is shown as the son of Symen. Reimont DeJong their son was born September 4, 1785; Symon born November 12, 1787; Pieter born November 8, 1789; died October 10, 1792; Antje born June 5, 1793.

The birth records at Schoorl are complete of the various children of Jacob DeJong and death records are also there of several of them. These can be found on the micro films in the genealogy library in Salt Lake City, Utah.

In the records of the family it will be noted that a number of the descendents of both Jacob and Pieter studied for the ministry and were successful in their work.

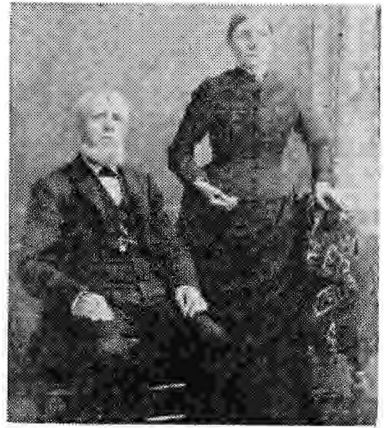

Roel Van Vuren (born in 1763; died in 1856) with his wife, Grietje Bardwijk ( born in 1800; died in 1864) and their children set out from Uithuistermeede, Netherlands in 1848 and arrived in Low Prairie(now South Holland) Illinois in the same year after an ocean voyage of six weeks.

He purchased a whole section of land. One square mile (640 acres) north of the Calumet river direct from the United States Government. A log cabin served as the family's first dwelling in Low Prairie. Mr. and Mrs. Roel Van Vuren are buried in the Holland section of the Oak Lawn Cemetery at Thornton Illinois. The graves are marked by two horizontal slabs.

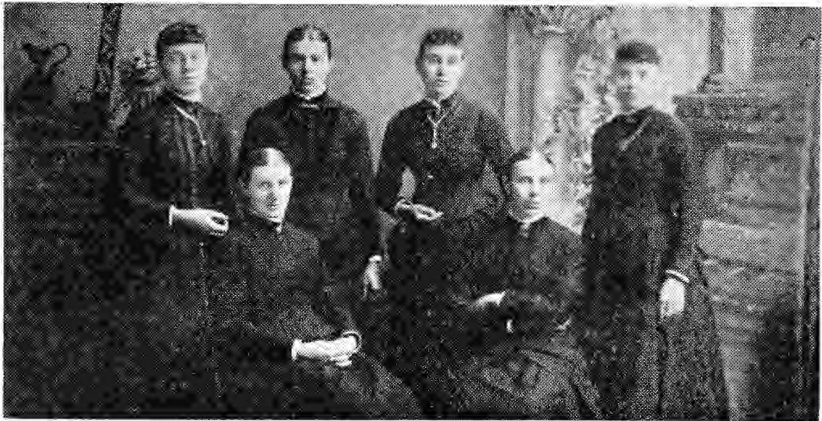

The VanVuren children married into the De Jong, Gouwens, Zwijnerberg and DeVries families.

Dirk VanVuren a son of Roel and Grietje Bardwijk VanVuren married Maartje, the first child of Jacob and Geertje Eeneningburg DeJong.

They made their home in High Prairie now Roseland, Chicago, Illinois. Many were the happy reunions, of fond memories, of their large family at the old homestead on Michigan Avenue near 100th Street.

GERRIT DE YOUNG & NELTJE
(NELLIE) KERPESTEIN

The Kerpestein's came to America in 1847, remained in New York State about a year, moved to Milwaukee; to Grand Rapids, Michigan; to Roseland and then when Gerrit DeYoung went to Milwaukee they also left for that city and lived at 1227 Walnut. He was a wagonmaker and blacksmith and followed that trade successfully.

Gerrit was a truck gardener in Roseland like his father. Their first nine children were born in Roseland and the last child, Mary, was born in Baldwin, Wisconsin. He moved from Roseland to Milwaukee in 1876, operated a brickyard in the South part of the city but the project was not successful so in January 1877 he moved to Baldwin, Wisconsin, bought a farm near there and operated it successfully for eleven years. He then moved back to Milwaukee and at the time of his death was living at 554 North 13th Street. The picture shown here was taken on April 19, 1909 which was his fiftieth anniversary.

Gerrit DeYoung who was the fourth child of Jacob DeJong had his name changed to DeYoung through a court order in Milwaukee, Wisconsin and the record of this change is in the court house there.

As were the older children, he was born in Schoorl, Netherlands and his birth date of March 14, 1839 is on record in that city. He died in Milwaukee, Wis. at the age of eighty-two years on Nov. 19, 1921. His wife died on Nov. 9, 1928. Her father died in March 1889 and her mother on October 21, 1896.

He married Neltje (Nellie) Kerpestein on April 19, 1859. It seemed that Nellie Kerpestein was the housekeeper for his mother in Roseland and he no doubt fell in love with her there. She was born in Brunnessa Holland on July 2, 1840, was the daughter of Gysbrecht, born in Serjanland, Holland on Dec. 4, 1808 and Jannetje VanSan born in Brunnessa on Nov. 20, 1814

Joris, the third child of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob DeJong, born October 8, 1837; died in the Netherlands on January 9, 1845.

PIETER AND TRYNTJE DALENBERG DE JONG

Pieter DeJong, a brother of Jacob DeJong, was born in the Netherlands on Aug. 7, 1811 and he was a school teacher. His home was in Warmerhuizen near Schoorl where his brother Jacob lived and in addition to being a school teacher, was active in the church there and he conducted a singing school. When organs came into vogue, he wrote the musical score for the psalm singing. His son Cornelius made many copies of these and it is said that they were used by Dirk VanVuren in his teaching of the youth to play psalms.

He was married Aug. 19, 1835 to Tryntje Dalenberg, daughter of Cornelius Dalenberg, son of Peter Dalenberg and Tryntje Abkerman, who was born on Sept. 23, 1814. From this union there were nine children, six of whom were born in Holland. As with the others he came to America in 1849 to find security, freedom of religion, and for the purpose of bringing up his children in a free country.

He and his brother Jacob helped to organize the First Reformed Church of Roseland and he gave a portion of his land for this church at 107th & Michigan Avenue. On Sept. 30, 1849 he was chosen as the first deacon of the church and his brother Jacob the first elder. This would indicate that these two brothers were held in high esteem by the others who came from Holland with them. Pieter DeJong bought 35 acres of land of the original 160 acres purchased and later bought other land in the vicinity.

He became the first instructor in the community school, was known as "Meester" DeJong, also taught catechism. He was well respected by every one. He died June 12, 1893, and his wife Tryntje died Dec. 5, 1883.

John DeYoung, the oldest son of Pieter DeJong was born in the Netherlands, near Schoorl on Dec. 28, 1836. He died in Minnesota on May 18, 1909.

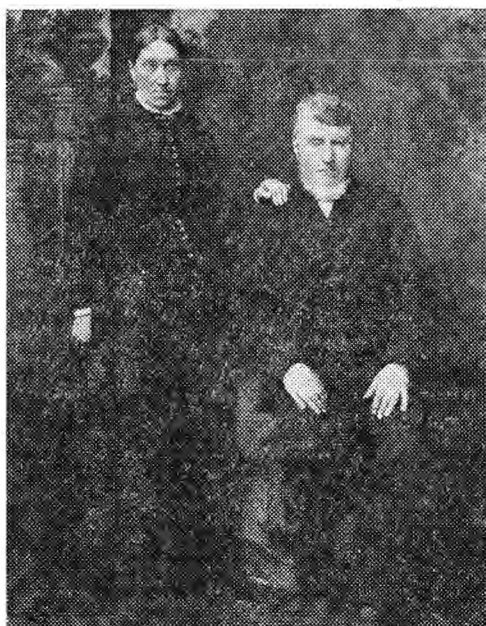

He went to Minnesota in 1870 and operated a farm. Was not rich in finances when he moved there but he was able to build up his finances and when he died he owned considerable Minnesota farmland. He was a successful farmer after going thru many hardships in the cold winters of Minnesota. They lived near Grand Meadow, Minn.

John DeYoung married Nellie Mastenbrook in Roseland on March 27, 1859. She was born in Holland on January 1 1839 and was the daughter of Adrian and Clara Tanis Mastenbrook of Zeeland, Netherlands.

She died on March 2, 1903.

They had ten children, three dying as infants, one daughter Katie died at age 17. The other six raised families and are listed in the genealogy.

Both John DeYoung and his wife are buried in the Grand Meadow, Minnesota cemetery.
